

Technip awarded services contract for a new generation biodiesel plant in The Netherlands

June 13, 2008

Paris, June 13, 2008

Technip has been awarded by Neste Oil Corporation a cost plus fee services contract for a new generation NExBTL renewable diesel plant to be built in Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

The contract covers the engineering and the management of procurement and of construction activities.

The plant will have a production capacity of 800,000 tons per year and will be one of the largest facilities producing diesel fuel from renewable feedstocks. The production process will be based on Neste Oil's proprietary NExBTL technology, which can use a wide range of raw materials. This technology was first applied in Neste Oil's Porvoo refinery in Finland, which has been in operation since the summer of 2007. Offering a product with excellent fuel properties, NExBTL can be used in all diesel engines.

Technip's operating center in Rome, Italy, will execute the contract, which is scheduled to be completed in 2011. A contract for a similar plant in Singapore was previously awarded to Technip by Neste Oil in January 2008.
